BULLOCH WINS PRIZE AT SAVANNAH FETE Savannah, Ga., June 10.—(Special.) Savannah's annual early summer water carnival drew several thousand people to the city today from the southeastern section of Georgia and nearby points in South Carolina. There was a very colorful parade with handsomely decorated floats upon which rode attractive young women as representatives of the various counties. Savannah merchants sponsored the queens from the various counties and went to great expense and pains to make the floats as possible. The three prize winners in the parade were: Bulloch county first; Effingham county second, and Montgomery county third. The parade of the floats was watched by great throngs along the entire line of march. This afternoon at Tybee a banquet was tendered the visiting queens and their attendants. There is to be a pageant tomorrow night in the municipal stadium and athletic field when Miss Mary Coris will be crowned queen of the carnival.

Carroll's U. S. "Guard" Spent His Time Naming Goldfish

Deputy Marshal Had Been There Week Before He Saw His Prisoner

(Government supervision over Earl Carroll during the weeks he was a patient in Greenville hospital could hardly be called rigid. In this, the third and last article of Martin Sommers' series, written while he was a hospital orderly in the institution, The Constitution's special representative tells how Deputy United States Marshal Cunningham spent the time counting and naming the goldfish in the fountain outside the hospital. Mr. Cunningham was Carroll's guard, but he only saw the prisoner-patient twice and not then until after he had been on "guard" a week.)

BY MARTIN SOMMERS.

One of my duties as night orderly—a comparatively pleasant one—was to make Deputy Marshal Henry Cunningham's bed and bring him ice water each evening.

The deputy marshal, who came to relieve a fellow sufferer a few days before I became a hospital orderly, lived directly across the hall from silent room No. 19, where Earl Carroll lay. But he might just as well have been miles away.

For he told me he didn't see the patient-prisoner he was supposedly guarding from escape until he had been in Greenville a week.

"I don't go near him," said Deputy Marshal Cunningham.

The doctors of the Carroll family had advised Cunningham that the sight of a man on guard might excite Earl or aggravate his condition. So Cunningham remained out of room No. 19.

Finally, he went in twice, but only to look at his pallid prisoner and then tip off without a word.

Carroll bawled saved the deputy marshal from a rather delicate position. Uncle Sam allowed him only $4 a day for room and board, he told me, and the Greenville City hospital charged him $5 daily.

The $4-a-day was bridged by the purse strings of Norman Carroll, Earl's brother. Norman paid half the board of the government employee who was there on duty guarding his brother.

The deputy marshal roomed at large daily inspecting Greenville real estate.

Another of his favorite pastimes was naming and counting the six fish that inhabited the proud fountain outside the hospital entrance. The deputy marshal managed to name all the fish while he was guarding Carroll.

Cunningham complained to me, while I was making his bed or pouring him ice water, that he did not get anything like $8 worth of board out of the hospital. He protested that the breakfast, for which $1 was charged on his bill, was worth about a quarter.

Indeed, the Greenville city hospital and the medical colony there did not lose money during the eight weeks Earl Carroll languished.

The narrow private room, from which Carroll never stirred during the entire time of his voluntary imprisonment there, cost $2 a week.

Two hospital physicians and a bundle of specialists also were on the Carroll payroll. Then there were special nurses.

But this night orderly's hands are clean. He didn't get a penny of the Carroll bounty. (It wasn't offered.)

Except for the presence of Deputy Marshal Cunningham, the government exercised no supervision of Earl Carroll in Greenville until government specialists examined him and made the report that sent him to Atlanta penitentiary.

Except for Cunningham, the only government men in the hospital were Charles T. Neilans when he came into the hospital suddenly Tuesday evening to take Earl to Atlanta. And that's where my career and a hospital orderly ended, suddenly and without regrets.

5 PERSONS SUFFER MINOR INJURIES IN AUTO MISHAPS

Minor injuries were suffered by five persons Friday in a series of automobile mishaps coming to attention of police and hospital authorities during the day.

Clarence Scott, 125 Courtland street, was bruised and lacerated Friday afternoon when the motorcycle he rode struck a horse and wagon at Piedmont and Forrest avenues. The driver of the wagon, Ben Mapp, negro, escaped injury.

When the light touring car he drove was side-swiped by a large truck, S. D. Preston, 31, 1207 Greenleaf road, was slightly injured Friday afternoon.

According to police, the truck was operated by Will Wyatt, negro, the accident occurring at Connelly and Fair streets. A case of reckless driving was made against Wyatt at headquarters.

E. F. Whitley, 1778 Boulevard drive, was injured Friday afternoon when the coupe he was driving and a city delivery truck collided on Hunter street. The truck was driven by F. C. Elliott, 293 Fulton street, and emerged suddenly from an alley, striking the coupe.

According to police, a case of reckless driving was made against Elliott.

C. C. Curbow, 562 Cooper street, and two eight-year-old boys, Charles Crespo, 691 Catherine street, and Fred Russell, 246 Milton avenue, were treated Friday at Grady hospital for injuries received in automobile accidents, they told doctors.

Police records were made of the mishaps.

NAVY COMMANDER IS FOUND GUILTY IN GROUNDING SHIP

New York, June 10.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Eagle says Captain Franklin D. Kears, commander of the battleship Colorado, was found guilty today of "negligence" in connection with the grounding of his vessel April 30 on Diamond Reef in the New York harbor.

Captain Kears has been on trial before court-martial at the Brooklyn naval yard.

The finding of the court was not directly announced, but the procedure is to call in the defendant when an acquittal has been voted and inform him that he is not guilty.

Captain Kears was waiting in the ante-room when the court was adjourned after reaching a decision, but was not called in.

IRISH MODERNIST HELD NOT GUILTY OF HERESY CHARGE

Dublin, Irish Free State, June 10.—(AP)—The modernist question in the Irish Presbyterian church came before the general assembly of the church today with the result that the dismissal of heresy charges against the Rev. J. Ernest Dwyer, professor of ecclesiastical teaching in the Irish Presbyterian college, was confirmed by a vote of 707 to 32.

Professor Dwyer previously had been tried by the Belfast presbytery, but that's where my career and a hospital orderly ended, suddenly and without regrets.

Professor Dwyer went on trial before the Belfast presbytery on charges that he "denied the divinity of Christ by alluding to his agonies and sufferings on the cross as those of a mere man being, such doctrines being inconsistent with the Bible and the standards of the Presbyterian church."

If you have a boy who's coming along in the world; if you can remember the thrill of your first baseball uniform—you're expected to help.

Let's go!

George Elvengren, former staff captain assigned to the famous Cuirassier regiment, accused of leading the Karlens revolt in 1918-1919, was another victim lured back to Russia by the Cheka.

Solomon Gourevitch, an aged Russian journalist, also was shot by the Cheka, who accused him of organizing an illegal group of boys for the purpose of assassinating Commissars Bukharin, Stalin and Rykov.

Nicola Mikulin, a former member of the Russian state, who was living in quiet poverty in Moscow, was shot because he occasionally met foreign diplomats.

Uprisings Charged.

Constantine Melnikov-Malevski, Nikolai Popoff, Vladimir Vishniakoff, Ivan Suzolin, Alexander Muravov, Nikolai Pavlovich, Alexander Popoff-Karavoff and Nikolai Leitchov were accused of being in contact with English agents and causing uprisings on Persian and other frontiers.

Eugene Shevchovietov and Nicola Karapenko were others who were charged with their lives for their occasional visits to the English mission at Moscow.

Commissar Menjinski's declaration which accompanied a list of the executed, published in today's Baltic papers, caused a thrill of horror among the population, thousands of whom barely escaped with their lives during the time the red terror reigned in the Baltic in 1920. The local press called attention to the fact that the charges against the executed were fantastic and trivial with a majority of the victims their only crime was the fact that they visited the English mission, most of them to obtain aid from their friends and relatives living abroad, which was forwarded to Moscow through the British diplomatic pouch.

BOLSHEVİK MENTALITY ASSAILED BY BRITISH.

London, June 10.—(AP)—The world now has an example of the bolshevik mentality at its worst. It was remarkable in British official circles with reference to the execution of 20 persons in Moscow, on charge of anti-soviet activities, including that of furnishing information to the British diplomatic mission in Moscow.

Dismissing the soviet charges against the British government as "absurd and ridiculous," officials here declare that the British government does not stoop to such plots as trying to blow up the Kremlin. The officials assert that the objectives sought by the soviet authorities in carrying out the score of death sentences in the same way they have been in previous years, namely, to institute a reign

WORKERS CONFERENCE ON FLOOD DAMAGE

CHINESE WARN
BRITISH AIRMEN

New Orleans, June 10.—(AP)—Final summation of the damage done by the flood in Louisiana began today at a series of conferences of business and relief officials with Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

The work of transforming the gigantic relief machine erected under the guidance of Secretary Hoover into a rehabilitation organization already has started along the upper reaches of the river, where farmers have been supplied with seeds and feedstuffs.

Many of these, however, will require a second supply of seeds, the first having vanished with the second flood, now passing down the river.

Delegates from four parishes along the lower Atchafalaya, St. Mary, La Fourche, Assumption and Terrebonne, attended today's conference and gave estimates of the amount of feed, seed, food, livestock and other necessities that would be required to start the farmers back into their fields.

In the "sugar bowl" willingness was shown to plant beans and other vegetables until the sugar could again be started.

Already a credit organization has been established in Louisiana to lend the farmers $1,500,000 for the work of rehabilitation. While security will be required for the loans, bankers said that the ability of the individual farmers to produce crops would be taken into consideration.

Fifty-three thousand acres have been flooded in the four parishes reporting to Secretary Hoover today. The lands are largely sugar, truck, fruit and vegetable lands. The conditions in the farming sections were described as "deplorable."

CALAMITY WILL SERVE AS FLOOD EDUCATION.

New Orleans, June 10.—(AP)—The present calamity has been the greatest educational campaign on flood control in the country's history. Secretary of Commerce Hoover said here today at the conclusion of a conference at which were discussed plans for the rehabilitation of the water swept areas.

"Doubtless you will get a solution," he said. "One reason why in the past people have refrained from a larger amount of property investment in your state has been due to the jeopardy to property by the Mississippi flood menace."

"I feel that now you are going to have economic advancement. It is a fact that the people are passing down the Mississippi river, step by step each parish will have to pull itself out of its present situation, but I can see no reason for discouragement."

400,000 ACRES
ARE REFLOODED.

New Orleans, June 10.—(AP)—Four hundred thousand acres have been reflooded by the second rise passing down the Mississippi river, Henry M. Baker, Red Cross director of disaster relief, said here today.

Mr. Baker, who attended a conference of relief officials with Secretary of Commerce Hoover, said that backwater was reported entering Greenville, Miss., second time in two days.

Water was rising in the neighborhood of Cleveland, Miss., and there was a possibility that it would go to a second rise, he said. The extent of the planted acreage was expected to be lost there. A rise also was expected at Eudora, Ark.

MAN'S HAND

Trinidad, Colombia, June 10.—(AP)—Arthur Baker, a coal miner living at Rouse, lost both hands last night when he connected an electric light globe that had been filled with dynamite for use as a burglar trap.

Because of numerous robberies, Dominick Gallissina, night shift fire at the mine, rigged up the trap. Burglars entered his home last night but instead of connecting the globe, they moved it to another room and screwed it in the socket.

When Baker came to the house after work he switched on the light and the explosion occurred, blowing off his hands.

Planes Will Crowd Skies As Lindbergh Comes Home

Washington, June 10.—(United News)—Airplanes will fill the sky like ducks flying south when Lindbergh steams up the placid Potomac tomorrow. His official air escort will include about 100 planes from the army, navy, aviation bureau and air mail service. Dozens of others will fly about as near as the special strict regulations will permit.

Neck cramps already are becoming epidemic here. Visiting planes were roaring over the city all day long. Thousands stood around the streets craning their necks at the circling squadrons. Tonight an army dirigible cruised over the city for an hour floating a huge American flag which was illuminated by searchlights.

Lindbergh has graduated through a long list of nicknames. In school he was "Cheese." In the air mail service he was "Slim." When he hopped off for Paris he was the "Flyin' Fool." When he landed he was "Lucky Lindbergh." Now he is "Lindy."

The first book on Lindbergh was to go on sale simultaneously with the flyer's arrival here—"Charles Lindbergh—His Life" by Morris De Haven Tracy and Dal Van Every, of the United News, New York staff. The book was handed to the Appleton Publishing house last Monday and established a speed record. It also contains a number of United News dispatches recording details of the Paris flight.

Home-town butter will be at Lindbergh's plate at the white house tomorrow. A tubful was sent here by plane from Little Falls, Minn., where Lindbergh lived as a small boy.

There will be one face missing in the official reception committee—that of Secretary of Commerce Hoover. As head of the government's civilian aviation activities, Hoover would normally take a conspicuous place in the ceremonies. But he is in New Orleans laboring to assist flood sufferers. He has refused all suggestions that he leave his post to enjoy the limelight here.

One department store is drawing trade by giving away Lindbergh photographs, and selling "Lindy" coats and "Lindy" scarfs. The coats have airplanes on the pockets. The scarfs bear an airplane design. One end is labelled "New York," the other "Paris."

Seats in windows along the parade route are selling for $2 to $3 each. The picture of Lindbergh's plane on the new air mail stamps is taken from a news photograph snapped by the NEA service before the "Spirit of St. Louis" took off at New York for Paris.

Secretary of State Kellogg, as one of the chief functionaries in the reception ceremonies, will honor the son of his bitter enemy in Minnesota politics years ago. Kellogg was a conservative republican and Lindbergh's father was an insurgent republican.

congressman. They ran for the senatorial nomination in 1916 and after a savage fight Kellogg won. But Kellogg's invitation to young Lindbergh on behalf of the Minnesota society was the first to be accepted by the flyer.

The New York reception committee has invited the Washington diplomatic corps to attend a dinner in New York June 14 in honor of "Colonel Charles Lindbergh—ambassador of the air."

One celebrity arrived today without receiving much attention—Milly the pigmy hippopotamus from Liberia presented to President Coolidge by Harvey Firestone was received formally at the zoo today.

Police have urged all residents to leave their automobiles at home tomorrow to simplify traffic problems.

Five hundred newspaper reporters, half from out of town, are here to report Lindbergh's arrival.

Washington monument, where the main Lindbergh ceremonies are to be held, is 555 feet 5 1/8 inches high. The "water mark" about one-third way up is where work was suspended in 1855 for 23 years while additional funds were being raised. It cost $1,300,000.

There is no question about Washington being eager to see Lindbergh, but just the same the local committee has appealed for $15,000 in contributions to finance arrangements and has received only $6,500.

"LINDY" WONDERS IF HE DESERVES BIG CELEBRATION

U. S. Cruiser Memphis, June 10.—(AP)—"I wonder if I really deserve all this," was the remark of Colonel Charles Lindbergh to Vice Admiral Burrage as he stood on the bridge of the Memphis this afternoon and watched his escort of four United States destroyers swing into position to accompany him triumphantly on the last lap of his journey homeward.

The destroyer escort was sighted some distance off the Virginia Capes and the four vessels swung into position soon afterward.

Colonel Lindbergh, hatless and with hair tousled by the wind, stood on the bridge and watched the swift craft maneuver.

Soon after the destroyer Goff, with R. R. Blythe, personal representative of Colonel Lindbergh, and F. Sidney Hayward, Baltimore customs officer, came alongside and the two men boarded the Memphis. Hayward was the first to greet the American aviator, saying:

"Colonel Lindbergh, I am glad, and we are all glad, to welcome you back home. I am proud to be the first to shake hands with such a distinguished individual."

Reporters, Photographers First To Welcome "Lindy"

AIRMAN CLAD IN GREY SUIT, RED TIE

Norfolk, Va., June 10.—(AP)—Fifty newspapermen and photographers aboard the U. S. destroyer Goff, gave Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh a throat-ripping welcome this afternoon when the news men drew alongside the Memphis 35 miles off Cape Henry. Official welcomes will come later but press men staged a private demonstration in good old American fashion with shouts of "hip- hoorays."

Lindbergh, standing on the bridge of the Memphis with Vice Admiral G. M. Burrage, commander of the United States naval forces in European waters, Captain H. E. Lacey, of the Memphis, and Commander D. W. Bagley, chief of staff, waved across a salute and grinned at the cheering men.

He was hatless and his famous hair was as unruly as ever. A dark necktie blew over the shoulder of a grey suit.

With the Memphis, were the destroyers Sands, Reuben James, Brooks and Worden. The ships had gone out early in the morning to form the escort.

Airplanes were soon to appear. First four, then eight, then two blimps until a swarm of 40 aircraft hovered over the Memphis.

Lindbergh leaned on the rail seemingly unemotionally. Feted by kings and nations he was returning to his own people who were bent on outdoing anything yet attempted.

When the cruiser and its convoy was a little more than a mile off, Lieutenant Commander H. H. Langworthy, commanding officer of the Goff, had his ship brought across the bow of the Memphis. The customary exchanges were made by semaphore and the Goff had officially joined the company of the five other ships.

Is Discovered. Colonel Lindbergh was discovered on the port side of the bridge. Through glasses officers aboard the Goff identified the officers with him. Finally the Goff was near enough for spoken greetings.

A camera man yelled, "Hey, Lindy, wave your hand again." Lindbergh laughed and raised his hands while the belated camera man ground out the film.

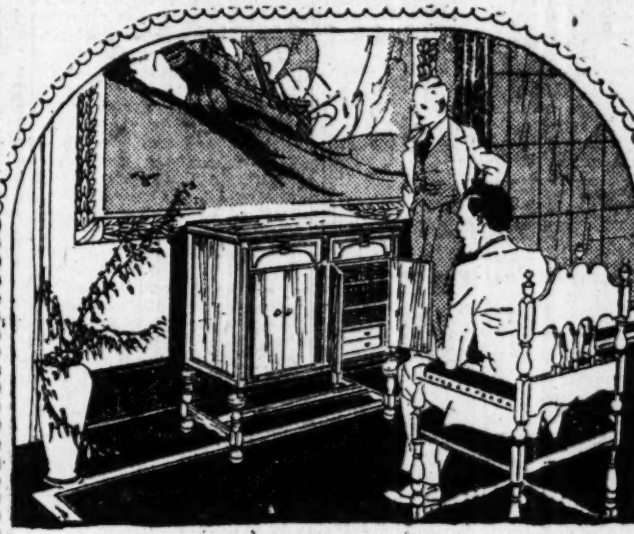

A boat was lowered and Robert R. Blythe, the flier's personal representative, and a customs official went to the Memphis.

"I was the last to see him off," Blythe said, "and the first to greet him on the return. Oh, yes, indeed I'm proud."

DIRIGIBLE STILL KEPT IN HANGAR BY HIGH WINDS

Lakehurst, N. J., June 10.—(AP)—All primed for his flight to sea to greet Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the dirigible Los Angeles was still in its hangar tonight, unable to take off because of winds sweeping across the great shed. It has been delayed more than 24 hours.

Although the winds have not been blowing at velocities much greater than 20 miles an hour, officers at the naval air station feared that the ground crew reduced by the recent despatch of marines to China would be inadequate to remove the giant craft.

Sidelights on Reception To Lindbergh by America

In addition to Mrs. Lindbergh, one other woman will be at the Washington navy yard to greet the trans-Atlantic flight hero. She is Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, who is a member of the official congressional reception committee.

"This was a man's achievement," was a phrase used by Miss Mabel T. Boardman, head of the Washington women's reception committee for Lindbergh, in stemming demands for membership on that committee.

An airship winging its way from the Statue of Liberty to the Eiffel Tower will be one of the features of the fireworks display to be given to night at the Washington monument grounds as a part of the Lindbergh reception.

In addition to Commanders A. C. Read and Richard Evelyn Byrd, three other distinguished fliers are to have places in the official reception stand at the monument grounds. They are Commander Richardson, who started on the navy trans-Atlantic flight in 1919 only to be forced down at the Azores, and Lieutenants Leigh Wade and Eric Nelson, of the army around-the-world fliers.

The semi-official reception committee which greets Lindbergh at the ship today now numbers 88, including high government officers and leading citizens of the District of Columbia as well as 22 members of congress.

Mrs. Lindbergh will ride in a white house car with her distinguished son today as he goes from the navy yard to the monument grounds to receive the distinguished flying cross from President Coolidge.

As he nears Washington on the Memphis, Lindbergh will pass the spot on the Potomac where Samuel Pierpont Langley made his unsuccessful attempt to fly a heavier-than-air machine on October 8, 1903.

The army and navy air stations at Washington have their greatest concentration of planes in their history preparatory to the air greeting the New York-to-Paris flier is to be given early today as his ship winds its way up the Potomac.

Lieutenant Al Williams, naval flier and holder of the unofficial speed record at 202 miles an hour, has been invited by New York city officials to act as New York's representative pilot in the reception of Lindbergh there on his arrival Monday.

Every military unit in Washington will "stand by" for emergency call during the 45 hours Colonel Lindbergh is in the national capital.

Lindbergh is an air mail pilot and the postoffice department had outdone all of the others in the matter of decoration of its building. A reviewing stand to be occupied by the assistant postmaster general when the famous flier passes up, Pennsylvania avenue, has been erected in front of the structure.

The welcome to Lindbergh has inspired hitherto unknown bards in large numbers to break into poetry with a result that Washington newspaper offices have been deluged.

Included in the group of famous aviators who will greet Lindbergh here will be Commander George Cook Sweet, retired, first naval officer to fly in an airplane under orders, Commander Sweet, who made the first flight in a Wright plane in September, 1908, now lives in Waterloo, N. Y.

Mrs. Lindbergh Two Airmen Drop Avoids Crowds Lindbergh Bid At Baltimore To Visit Florida

Baltimore, Md., June 10.—(AP)—A hairdresser and a salesgirl were telling friend tonight of a customer they waited upon today.

She was Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, who delayed meeting with President and Mrs. Coolidge in Washington to make an impromptu visit here at breakfast time.

Maintaining her desire to avoid sharing the fame the world has showered upon her son, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the mother had the train carrying her as an ordinary passenger stop at Mount Washington, a few miles north of here.

The white house heard about her presence here and dispatched one of the president's automobiles to carry her to the temporary white house.

Seven hours after her arrival—3 o'clock—the machine, in charge of a white house aide, appeared and Mrs. Lindbergh was whisked out Washington boulevard.

Only once was the school teacher's plans to avoid publicity marred. This occurred when she was having her hair arranged in the neighborhood of Norfolk, Va., June 10.—(AP)—Two airmen from Jacksonville, Fla., hit the bull's eye one time out of six today and Colonel Lindbergh got an invitation to the Land of Flowers.

Alurie Younger, pilot, and J. A. Carris flew a land plane over the cruiser Memphis and dropped six small bundles, each containing invitations addressed to the trans-Atlantic flier by Governor John W. Martin, of Florida, the city of Jacksonville, and civic organizations.

Five bundles went overboard but the sixth stayed on the cruiser's deck. Whereupon the aviators dipped their plane's wings in farewell salute and quit the sea.

The Hotel Belvedere. The crowd of newspaper reporters and others was so great that the proprietor barricaded the establishment, veiled the windows with sheets and Mrs. Lindbergh awaited her rescue by detectives. She was escorted through her rear, through an alley and to her hotel. The detectives maintained a guard outside of her hotel suite.

DAVISON-PAXON PAGEANT STAGED

As an elaborate and colorful fore-runner of the big "affiliation sale" which starts Monday and continues for a week, employees of the Davison-Paxon company Friday afternoon staged a merchandise pageant for the purpose of intensifying the already keen enthusiasm of the store's personnel in the event, and also to acquaint the workers with the wide scope of offerings to be included in the selling event.

The pageant was staged immediately after the closing of the great Peachtree street department store, which is affiliated with R. H. Macy and company of New York. The entire personnel of the store was on hand to view the procession, which was received so warmly that officials announced it will be repeated for the benefit of the general public next Tuesday morning at 5:30 o'clock.

A committee of judges consisting of Raymond A. Kline, vice president of the Macy company in charge of branch stores; W. J. Brumback, merchandise manager; and E. Munn, display manager, awarded first prize in the pageant to the silk department's entry. This consisted of a float on which stood a beautiful girl employee draped in glistening silks of every hue and texture. Miss Jonnie Greer was model for the draping of the silks.

The pageant passed down the entire length of the central aisle of the first floor of the Davison-Paxon store, reviewed by the judges and witnessed by lines of employees flanking each side of the walkway. Each department in the store was represented by a float of the most attractive and colorful pattern being worn or exhibited by employees.

"This was one of the most impressive sights I have ever witnessed," Mr. Kline declared. "It was arranged by the employees without knowledge of or help from the executives. I was not notified of the plan, but was asked to remain after the store closed and act as a judge."

"It is evidence of the splendid cooperation the store is receiving from its employees and of their enthusiasm for the 'affiliation sale,' which is an occasion on which we sincerely seek to demonstrate our appreciation of the good which has resulted from the association of the Davison-Paxon company with the Macy company."

The public is invited by the store officials to be on hand next Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock and witness the repetition of the pageant.

FLORIDIAN FOUND LYING ON STREET WITH WRISTS CUT

D. J. Higginbotham, 45, of Fort Myers, Fla., was found Friday morning lying by the road on Fowler drive between Third and Fourth streets, with both wrists bleeding profusely from penknife slashes, alleged to have been self-inflicted, according to police reports.

Patrolmen Madrox and Smith, who found Higginbotham, stated that a knife was found on the ground near him. Doctors at the hospital stated that, although in a weakened condition, he will probably recover.

Razor and Gun Prove Costly as Arguments In Church Dispute

Sadie White, negro woman, living on Dimmock street, was sentenced to 30 days in the city prison Friday morning by Judge Murphy M. Holloway for creating a disturbance at a recent meeting in the Whiteside colored Baptist church.

Members of the church were voting on a pastor and a row is said to have resulted when another negro challenged Sadie White's vote. It was charged that she thereupon drew a razor and also shot at another negro.

Church To Pass On Resignation Of Rev. Hershey

Members of the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church next Sunday morning will consider the resignation submitted during the past week by the Reverend Roy G. Hershey, pastor.

This word was forthcoming from church officials Friday following revelation by The Constitution that Rev. Hershey had handed his written resignation to a member of the church who had visited the pastor at his Birmingham home shortly after the clergyman returned from an impromptu trip to the middle-west.

Despite continuance of strict secrecy concerning the developments in the Hershey incident, it became known in Atlanta that Rev. Hershey had given ill-health as the cause for his resignation.

On May 9 last, the pastor of the local church left Atlanta secretly. For three weeks a search was prosecuted by police and press services. Later the police were requested to drop the investigation. Two weeks ago, the pastor was located at his former home in Birmingham. Physicians issued announcements to the effect that the clergyman had suffered from a mental disorder which prompted his disappearance. Friday morning The Constitution made public the fact that Rev. Hershey had offered his resignation.

FAIR AND WARMER WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR CITY TODAY

Continued fair weather, with slightly higher temperatures, is scheduled for today, according to C. F. von Hermaun, local official meteorologist.

Temperatures today are expected to range from 70 to 85 degrees, as compared with 60 and 83 degrees, the low and high marks of Friday.

There is no rain in sight and the clouds will gradually disappear during the day, according to Mr. von Hermaun.

GEORGIA, ALABAMA BOY SCOUT CAMPS SIGHTSEEING HERE

Lakewood park and Atlanta was given the once over Friday by 150 Boy Scouts from West Point, official camp of the Chattahoochee council. Nestled in a clearing near Lakewood, the camp resembled a military outfit as W. W. Shuman, president of the council, and H. G. Bradshaw, executive director, and their assistants, conducted the boys through maneuvers.

The body left West Point at 6 o'clock Friday morning and at 10 o'clock arrived in Lakewood. They will remain in Atlanta for three days. Governor Clifford Walker received the boys Friday afternoon at the Stone Mountain and the Atlanta Federal penitentiary, and this afternoon will make a trip to the Adams camp, situated near the city of Stone Mountain, at the Baptist tabernacle as special guests of the Azusa class. That night they will return to West Point.

Mellett, Canton editor, was sentenced to a term of from five to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary today. Guthrie Not Re-elected To Post With University Y. M. C. A. at Athens

Athens, Ga., June 10.—(AP)—The office of assistant secretary of University of Georgia Y. M. C. A. was abolished today by the board of directors. Paul L. Guthrie, who held the post, recently was the center of campus controversy because of his alleged opposition to compulsory military training and his activities in inter-racial work.

Three members of the board, whose names were not divulged, were said to have voted against abolishment of the office.

20 MEN JOIN NAVY AT LOCAL STATION

Twenty recruits were enlisted at the Atlanta navy recruiting station during the week ending Friday, according to Lieutenant W. L. Travis, U. S. N., officer in charge.

Every naval recruiting station in the United States has been assigned a certain weekly quota of apprentices to be sent to the navy department. Atlanta has enlisted its quota each week, according to Officer Travis. The Atlanta quota was doubled on June 3 by the department.

MISS L. DOBELL, OF COLUMBUS, DIES

The body of Miss Janie Ligon Dowell, 68, prominent woman of Columbus, Ga., who died Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Near, 952 Juniper street, following an illness of several weeks, will be taken this morning to Tuskegee, Ala., for funeral services and interment. The services will be held at the Methodist church in Tuskegee and interment will be in the family burial ground near the church, beside her father and mother.

Miss Dowell came to Atlanta several months ago from Columbus, when illness from which she had been suffering some time became acute. She suffered an attack of pneumonia and had shown considerable improvement, but suffered a relapse several days ago.

She was born in Tuskegee, the daughter of Rev. Lewis F. Dowell and Arcadia Mitchell Dowell. Her father died in 1902. He was for nearly 50 years a member of the Alabama Methodist conference.

She was a prominent member of St. Luke's Methodist church, of Columbus, where she was teacher of a Sunday school class and an active worker in missions of the church.

In addition to her sister, she is survived by two brothers, Louis P. and R. Y. Dowell, both of Columbus, and several nephews and nieces.

WOMAN BOUND OVER IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

An indictment charging shooting at another was returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury against Mrs. R. Y. Barrett, Atlanta woman, in connection with the alleged firing of a shotgun at Dr. R. F. Ingram, 30 Woodcrest, Brookwood Hills.

Mrs. Barrett was bound over to the grand jury from municipal court after maintaining that she had not fired at Dr. Ingram but had fired the shot at a water-fowl which arose from the lake at Mountain Manor Fishing club, a resort near Atlanta.

Another woman—Vivian Mitchell—was also indicted by the investigating body Friday, charged with shooting at another. She is alleged to have fired at her husband while the latter was seated on the front steps on the Mitchell home in Center Hill on Junior street.

The bullet lodged in the front steps and did not strike Mr. Mitchell, county police who investigated report.

Mrs. Townsend Denies She Is To Be Candidate For United States Senate

Savannah, Ga., June 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles Townsend, widow of the Michigan senator, today told The Associated Press that reports that she is considering announcing her candidacy for the senate are "over-inflations."

Mrs. Townsend was in Savannah as a delegate at the U. S. good roads convention which ended today.

"I have been approached by party leaders," she said, "but I cannot believe this is the time for a woman to offer for the place. We need a strong man, and I think party sentiment is fairly well centered on a strong man from Grant County whose name I am not privileged to give."

"I could consider running only if I felt that I could do more good than any other possibility, which I do not now believe to be the case."

"Further, I do not believe that women have yet had sufficient experience, nor gained the necessary background in political matters, to be chosen for such high places, except under the most unusual circumstances."

Crisp Expresses Belief Extra Session Will Not Be Called

Americus, Ga., June 10.—(Special.) Congressman Charles R. Crisp today expressed the opinion that President Coolidge will not call an extra session of congress this fall as forecast by Senator Smoot, of Utah, in a recent interview.

"If the president should do this," Judge Crisp said, "farm relief legislation would immediately become one of the most pressing problems before congress."

In his opinion, the flood relief situation is being adequately handled through the American Red Cross society, aided by army authorities, and money sufficient for every needed humanitarian relief has been made available through the charitable agencies cooperating with the Red Cross.

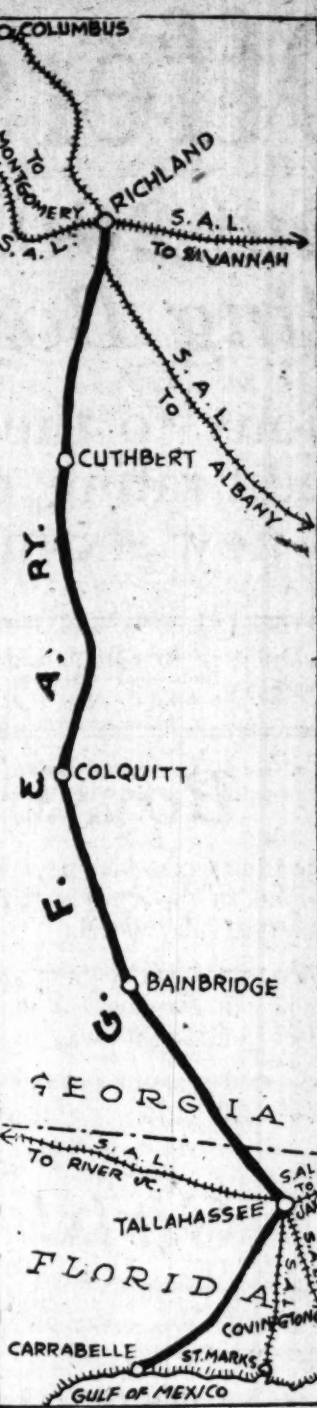

"Should congress be convened in extra session nothing could be done with regard to flood control legislation until necessary flood control plans have been worked out and approved by army engineers. As soon as this is done, and in my opinion the work can hardly be completed before next December, congress surely will appropriate funds necessary to carry the plans into execution without delay."

Harry Edwards Plants Tree at Louisville In Friend's Memory

Louisville, Ga., June 10.—(Special.) Harry Stillwell Edwards has been in Louisville for a day or so as the guest of friends here, the occasion of his visiting being the presentation of a California redwood tree to Jefferson county and Louisville in memory of a friend of his, the late Willis F. Denny. Mr. Denny was a former resident of Louisville, where he was born, later moving to Atlanta, where he became a well known architect, planning some of the great buildings in different sections of the country. While at school at Mercer university, Mr. Denny lived in the home of Mr. Edwards in Macon.

A number of friends witnessed the planting of the tree here this morning on the courthouse square.

New Seaboard Route

SEABOARD TO GIVE ATLANTA SEA OUTLET

Richland, Ga., where connection is made with the Seaboard's Montgomery to Savannah line, the road finds its sea outlet at Carrabelle, Fla., after coursing through O'Folliott, Aragon, Edison, Bainbridge, Ga., Tallahassee, Fla., and many intermediate towns serving fertile farming areas.

The territory traversed is one now undergoing extensive development, particularly in the field of diversified agriculture, while turpentine and lumber interests have long fed the road with great revenues.

The Seaboard is regarded here as a continuation of plans for extension, announced last year by the Seaboard, that will afford the railway a direct and short route from western points to the Florida west coast. Direct connections at Richland from "ontom" and point to the west will carry trains through to connect with other links of the railway in Florida, avoiding long hauls formerly required via Tampa and other places on the west coast.

Connection is made at Tallahassee with the Seaboard's line extending from River Junction, Fla., to Jacksonville, Fla., as well as with the line to Perry, Fla., through which a short route to the lower west coast is regarded as most feasible.

Utilizing the short line from Columbus, Ga. to Albany, via Richland, the road will have a direct line from Columbus to Florida.

The Seaboard is regarded here as certain to bring about more extensive development of the agricultural country tapped by the Montgomery-Savannah line, affording the latter an alternate and quicker route to the sea.

CARROLL FAMILY LEAVES ATLANTA

With praises of Warden John W. Snook on their lips and tears of regret at leaving their kinsman, Earl Carroll, incarcerated in the Atlanta federal penitentiary, Mrs. Carroll, the famous prisoner's wife, and Norman and Mrs. Carroll, his brother and sister, left Atlanta at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon for New York.

"If Earl has to be a prisoner, I would rather he were under Warden Snook than any other man I know of," Norman Carroll said. "Mr. Snook has been firm, but sympathetic in his dealings with us, and we leave Earl hoping and trusting for the best."

The decision of the famous theatrical producer's wife to go to their New York home came when she found that if she remained in Atlanta, she could not, under prison regulations, see Earl within a month. This caused Norman Carroll and his wife to insist that Mrs. Carroll return to New York for a rest to prevent what her medical advisers say is an impending nervous breakdown.

Mrs. Carroll kept a silent vigil over the bed of her stricken husband at the Greenville, S. C., hospital, where he lay for four months, the minimum time for a year and a day, following his conviction on charges of perjury in connection with his famous bathtub party.

It is expected that Earl will apply for a parole after he has been a prisoner for four months, the minimum time before he can make such application under United States parole regulations.

DROUTH IS BROKEN IN MONTEZUMA AREA

Montezuma, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—The long drouth in this section was broken Tuesday by rains in all sections of the county and there is general rejoicing. Except in places where the cotton had failed to come up, it was said not to be suffering from drouth, and garden truck was greatly in need of rain.

Robbers of Bank Are Surrounded, Police Believe

Marshall, Ark., June 10.—(AP)—Four armed men who today held up and robbed the American Exchange bank of Leslie, Ark., near here, were believed to be surrounded in a wooded area about two miles from Leslie late today. The men obtained between $4,000 and $5,000, mostly in silver.

The car in which the four men fled was found abandoned on the road near the bank. The men are believed to be hidden. Each of the four men has a high powered rifle.

The men walked into the bank about noon today, locked the cashier, Roy Hudspeth, in the vault, took between $4,000 and $5,000 in silver, kidnaped Archie Hudspeth, the only other person in the bank and fled in a waiting automobile. Hudspeth was put on the side of the road a short distance from town.

About 50 men comprise the party which is seeking the four men. The sheriff's deputies and the town marshal of Leslie are seeking the robbers. No shots have been fired in the chase so far.

LESS LIQUOR HERE Rum Supply Decrease 50% Since Last Year.

Atlanta's liquor supply is on the decrease and there is 50 per cent less whisky being brought into the city now than a year ago, according to reports made Friday to Acting Chief A. Lamar Poole.

In the report it was shown that 800 gallons of corn whisky were destroyed during May; 114 persons jailed on charges of bootlegging; 197 persons arrested on city charges and 112 automobiles were confiscated. The report included the activities of the city's whisky squad, the forces of the Fulton county and agents from the United States enforcement squad.

Police Lieutenant E. S. Acree, in charge of the city's liquor enforcement squad, stated in his report that the city recorder, Judges Murphy M.

CONFESSED BURGLAR DRAWS HEAVY TERM

Sentences aggregating from 15 to 30 years were imposed Friday by Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court on Charlie Johnson, negro, who pled guilty to six charges of burglary of residences in western Fulton county.

County police who arrested the negro recovered several hundred dollars worth of clothing and other articles included in the loot taken and returned the stolen goods to their owners. Three other negroes were indicted Friday by the Fulton grand jury in connection with receiving the goods alleged to have been stolen by Johnson.

Woman Who Ran For President Dies in England

Cheltenham, England, June 10.—(AP)—Victoria Cliffin Woodhull Martin, author and pioneer suffragist, who once ran for president of the United States, died here today.

Mrs. Victoria Cliffin Woodhull Martin, born in Homer, Ohio, in 1838, made her home in England from the time of her marriage to John Bidolph Martin, of Overbury Court, England, who died in 1897. Her first husband was Dr. Canning Woodhull, who died in 1873.

AIR-COOLING TRIUMPHS!

COLONEL LINDBERGH RETURNS!

Throughout the Motor World

One of the major factors in this epoch-making flight is cited in Colonel Lindbergh's comment in the New York Times, "I had what I regard as the best engine."

It was an air-cooled engine—a fact of tremendous significance to every automobile owner.

Franklin's achievement in perfecting air-cooling for the world is thus once again acclaimed. Franklin principles, advanced, tested, basically sound, have given irrefutable proof of their value.

Franklin is proud and justly so, of this achievement of the air-cooled motor. This triumph vindicates Franklin's faith and adherence to a basically sound automotive principle.

Unswerving belief in air-cooling—over a period of 25 years—has been grounded on facts which Lindbergh's flight has so spectacularly demonstrated—that air-cooling is essential to utmost reliability, to greatest simplicity, to scientific weight saving, to attentionless and economical operation.

There are other exclusive Franklin features—just as advanced—just as correct as air-cooling—and to these Franklin adheres with the same faith, courage and sureness.

And again this faith is vindicated by the increase in Franklin's 1927 sales—the greatest rate of increase in the whole fine car group—by the enthusiastic praise of Franklin Owners and by the fact that the Franklin Owner's next car is so generally another Franklin.

His achievement is acclaimed—his courage and ability praised—his name honored—as Colonel Lindbergh is welcomed home. Justly proud of his great accomplishment, our welcome reflects the admiration and renown he has so justly earned.

One man's courage and ability have written a remarkable page of modern history—written a record of endurance and achievement. His daring has proclaimed to the world that today's spirit of conquest, together with modern engineering, recognizes no limits.

FRANKLIN AUTOMOBILE COMPANY
SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

Chamberlin's heroic flights—both when making the New York-to-Germany record flight—and when establishing the 51½ hour endurance record—were accomplished with the aid of an air-cooled motor.... Hour after hour—unflinching—man and motor kept up the terrific grind—until the goal each time had been attained.

U. S. WE COME TO GREET LINDBERGH'S EUROPEAN CONQUESTS

Celebrated Airmen Will Pay Homage

Washington, June 10.—(United News)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is to be greeted by some of the greatest aviators in America on his arrival here today.

Among the noted airmen summoned here by the government are: COMMANDER RICHARD E. BYRD, north pole flier. COMMANDER A. C. READ, commander of the Hampton Roads naval air station and first flier to cross the Atlantic. LIEUTENANT OAKLEY G. KELLY, first transcontinental flier. LIEUTENANT RUSSEL MAUGHAN, dawn to dusk, New York to San Francisco aviator. CAPTAIN ST. CLAIR STREET, adjutant of the great army flying base at Selfridge field, Michigan. MAJOR THOMAS LAN-PHIER, commander of the Porto Rican flight.

The air escort which will accompany the cruiser Memphis from the mouth of the Potomac river to the navy yard will number approximately 90 planes and the dirigible Los Angeles.

Aerial maneuvers will take place in the interval between the arrival of the Memphis opposite Alexandria, Va., and its docking at the navy yard. The army planes will fly on the Maryland side of the cruiser and the navy machines on the Virginia side. In the air escort will be 39 army planes, 41 naval planes, two department of commerce machines, two from the post office department, and a number of commercial ships.

DESERT AIRMAN WILL TRY HAWAII RETURN FLIGHT

Albuquerque, N. M., June 10.—(P) Chester Tallmadge, of Albuquerque, an aviator who served with the Royal Flying Corps for 16 months during the world war, has announced his intention of attempting a round trip flight from San Francisco to Honolulu next month.

F. D. Gibson, New York oil man, is the principal backer of the project. He will try to win both the $25,000 offered by James D. Dole, of Honolulu, or a flight to that city, and the $50,000 offered by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce for a round trip from that city to Honolulu and return.

INDIAN, MONEY, WIFE, STRANGER: LO, ALONE, BROKE

Memphis, June 10.—(P)—Joe Duncan, 22, Indian of Pawhuska, Okla., was found in a dazed condition on South Main street near the railroad terminal.

His wife had disappeared and money and jewelry with total value of $2,650 had been taken from him, police reported. Duncan had been drugged, authorities believed, then robbed. He had somewhat recovered several hours later but was unable to remember anything since he and his wife "picked up a stranger" in Arkansas several days ago, he indicated.

Man Behind Atlantic Flight Lauds Lindbergh to Skies

New York, June 10.—(United News)—A little bit lost in the shuffle of the many who, seven years ago, had the vision to offer $25,000 for a trans-Atlantic flight to Paris, returned to the United States Friday, a happy as a school boy at vacation time over the prospect of paying his debt to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh next week.

Raymond Orteig, genial New York hotel man, arrived aboard the Mauretania declaring that he would have the pleasure next Friday of presenting the $25,000 to the "most modest young American I ever have met."

Orteig is a Frenchman, long in the United States, who conceived the idea of offering a prize for a flight between his native land and the United States. Although the $25,000 was put up with French bankers as early as 1924, only two attempts were made to win the award before Lindbergh flew.

Rene Fonck's disastrous attempt to fly from Roosevelt field last year was followed by the tragedy of Nungesser and Gail, and then the young Misses Galt, who were swept near the Atlantic with the nonchalance of his genius and won the prize.

"He is the most extraordinary youngster one could meet," said Orteig Friday. "His modesty equals his prowess. When I met him at the American embassy in Paris, he had the famous story of how he got to us all ready for me, and he said:

"Well, Mr. Orteig, you certainly started something. I can hardly realize the donor of the $25,000 prize had been at Pau when word reached him that Lindbergh had flown. Immediately he hastened to New York to get the credentials in the world could not get him through to Lindbergh's side at Le Bourget."

"I got there seven minutes after the young man," said Orteig, "but it was impossible to penetrate the crowd. The French government had most kindly given me passes of every description, but the French people had taken 'Lindy' in charge."

He talked over with correspondents Friday the things that are scheduled to happen in Washington, in New York, in St. Louis when those cities have an opportunity to greet him.

He confessed that it seemed "like a long time" since he had taken off from San Diego, Cal., on the first hop of his air path to glory. But he insisted that he was not a hero, but a "fear" of "receptions, dinners, crowds or anything else."

"It certainly has been a crowded time," he said, "I can hardly realize how so much could be crowded into so short a time."

Overwhelmed by cables. Seldom if ever has a single man been overwhelmed with such a tidal wave of radiograms, letters which were received in Europe and assurances of mail trucks full of letters when he arrives and the flyer is surprisingly confident that an answer to every one of these communications will be possible.

"Tell the folks at home," he said, "that I appreciate their messages, but I can't reply to all of them until I get to New York and find out what has been arranged for me. I have things to do, including writing my book in between times, that I've only been able to read the messages so far and haven't had time to answer them."

"When I get ashore and get organized I intend to reply to every message, but meanwhile I can only say that I appreciate everything that has been done for me."

"I don't know what I'm going to do first in Washington. I expect to go to New York and then to St. Louis, and possibly on to San Diego to complete the round trip. But everything is uncertain."

Lindbergh retired early Friday night when the Memphis was nearing Point, Cal., most of his night was spent while the cruiser was passing up the Potomac river.

LINDY WILL FLY TO ST. LOUIS FRIDAY. Washington, June 10.—(P)—Secretary Davis, of the war department, understands that Lindbergh will fly to St. Louis Friday, the Spirit of St. Louis.

EAGER CAPITAL WAITS TO HONOR COLONEL. Continued from first page. nothing, least of all the hero himself.

Mrs. Lindbergh, trying to arrive secretly, unexpectedly left her train at Baltimore this morning, but she was soon discovered and finally was brought to Washington in a white house car this afternoon and drove up to the temporary white house on Dupont circle duly acclaimed by an applauding crowd. Spectators lined the pike the whole 40 miles.

Tonight the last-minute scramble for tickets to the receptions is making gay hairs among the reception committees. Several cabinet members were added to the reception committee that will greet Lindbergh at the navy yard dock. Police are being drilled to handle a crowd that may get out of hand. All the best locations for seeing the big show tomorrow.

Program To Stand. No major changes have been made in the program. The Memphis is well within her schedule and barring unforeseen difficulties, will arrive such a large ship at the navy yard, the gangplank should be thrown out on time—just before noon.

About 1,500 New York police will be on duty to take care of the crowd when the destroyer Memphis arrives, and the tremendous affair without seeming to exaggerate. The town is on a Lindbergh bust. It is a 100 per cent Lindbergh town, with every one undercurrents such as often take the spirit out of great celebrations, with no factional warfare, only a mad scramble of everybody to get in on it.

For two miles, from the navy yard to Washington monument, the streets will be crowded to the steel barriers with people. Lindbergh will ride in a car isolated in the parade so that it may be easily picked out of the long line. He will ride slowly so that all may see him distinctly but there will be no stop, because the police fear that should his car come to a standstill, the crowd would surge forward and get beyond control of the police and the protecting troops as it did in Paris and London. This is the greatest fear of the Washington police.

Fearful of Crowds. They even look doubtfully upon a proposal that Lindbergh call at the embassy of the country which honored him in Europe to express his thanks. It is feared that each stop the crowds will become unmanageable. The celebration is the nation's as well as Washington's. Those sitting before their loudspeakers even in remote farmhouses will "see" more of the Lindbergh reception than the citizen who has the best place along the parade route here, because the National Broadcasting company, mobilizing all of its skill and resources, has arranged to give the entire event from the time the Memphis is sighted until Lindbergh goes to the temporary white house to bed. Star announcers of radio, planted at many points will, at a minute's description far more complete than

Lindbergh Reception Scheduled

Washington, June 10.—(United News)—Lindbergh's program here will be run on as rigid a schedule as the flier chartered for himself on his lonely flight. Every hour has been apportioned on the following schedule:

TODAY. 7 A. M.—Memphis reaches Quantico, 40 miles down the Potomac, and picks up coast guard river patrol.

11-12 (noon)—Memphis docks at navy yard and parade to Washington monument starts.

1 P. M.—Ceremonies begin at Washington monument; president decorates Lindbergh with distinguished flying cross.

1:45 P. M.—President and Mrs. Coolidge entertain Lindbergh and his mother at luncheon at temporary white house.

8 P. M.—President's dinner. 9 P. M.—Minnesota State society reception.

10 P. M.—National Press club reception. Tonight—Lindbergh and his mother guests all night at temporary white house.

SUNDAY. 11 A. M.—To church with President and Mrs. Coolidge. 12:30 P. M.—Luncheon with President and Mrs. Coolidge.

1:45 P. M.—Starts for Arlington to attend funeral of unknown soldier.

2:30 P. M.—Visits world war wounded at Walter Reed hospital.

8:30 P. M.—Missouri society reception. MONDAY. 7 A. M.—Breakfast by fellow aviators.

8 A. M.—Take-off for New York. could be seen through any one pair of eyes.

Mother to Meet Son. Mrs. Lindbergh will be taken to the navy yard by the president's special cabinet committee, consisting of Secretary of War Davis, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and Assistant General New. She will be allowed to go up the gangplank first to meet her son before the reception committee snags him up. She probably will have some time aboard as the Memphis should dock soon after 11. Lindbergh will be met by the president and Mrs. Coolidge and will be there when the flier and his escort arrive. The distinguished flying cross will be presented by the president and after a brief reply by Lindbergh the president and his guests will go to the temporary white house or luncheon. They will rest all afternoon. After the president's dinner at 8 p. m., Lindbergh and his mother probably will go to reception at 9, and the press club reception at 10.

Sunday he may go to Bolling field to look at the setting up of his plane, and his mother probably will go to church with the Coolidges. They will visit Arlington national cemetery and the tomb of the unknown soldier in the afternoon, call on war wounded at Walter Reed hospital, attend flag week vesper services at the capitol, have supper at the temporary white house and attend the Missouri society reception at 8:30 p. m. Monday morning at 7, fellow aviators will give Lindbergh a breakfast and immediately afterward he will fly to New York.

Flags Everywhere. Thousands of flags have been put out, probably the most that Washington ever has seen at one time, for the downtown streets are being completely flagged. One volunteer statistician estimated that 2,500,000 flags are out of the 12,000,000 flags, one for each inhabitant of the nation. His figures had not been disputed up to a late hour.

Public demand to see Lindbergh's plane is so insistent that the local committee will try to persuade the colonel to allow it to be displayed Sunday afternoon on a float near the bank of the Potomac, safe from the reach of the crowd.

With his customary caution, the president today authorized the prediction that Lindbergh would be a "royal welcome." This does not seem to be exaggeration.

U. S. DESTROYER FIRST TO HAIL HIM. U. S. S. Memphis, June 10.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press).—The first home contact for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, New York-born aviator, was received today when the destroyer Memphis met the scout cruiser Memphis at sea.

The vessels met 250 miles off the coast of the nation, where Lindbergh also a movie film, made of the aviator during the voyage and a bag of official mail which she was to carry to New York.

LINDBERGH'S TEACHER BRINGS INVITATIONS. Omaha, Neb., June 10.—(P)—Ira Bissell, air mail pilot, who taught Lindbergh to fly, will carry 100 invitations from Junior Chambers of Commerce throughout the country when he lands in Washington to greet his former pupil.

HOSPITAL ROOM TO HONOR FLIER. Scranton, Pa., June 10.—(P)—Employees of the postoffice at Carbondale, near here, have subscribed $1,500 for a memorial room in the new Carbondale general hospital to commemorate the trans-Atlantic flight of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, also a mail man. The room will be known as the Lindbergh memorial room.

AIR TRAFFIC RULES WILL BE ENFORCED. Washington, June 10.—(P)—The air above Washington tomorrow will be divided into two strata during the coming of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Civilian airplanes in the celebration, under regulations issued by the department of commerce, will fly at a lower level of a minimum altitude of 1,500 feet up to 2,000 feet. Army and navy airplanes will fly above 2,000 feet.

The order, which is the first to be made under the new air commerce law, also requires civil aircraft to display their license number or identification mark.

NEW AIRMAIL STAMP IS ON SALE JUNE 18. Washington, June 10.—(P)—The Lindbergh air mail stamp, the first copy of which is being mounted in a special album for presentation to Colonel Lindbergh tomorrow by Postmaster General New, will be placed on sale June 18 at four postoffices and the government's philatelic agency here.

The postoffice will be at St. Louis, the home port of the "Spirit of St. Louis" and a terminus of Lindbergh's old air mail line. His birthplace, Little Falls, Minn., his boyhood home, and Washington, where he spent a number of years while his father was in congress, the stamps will be issued to other postoffices as fast as the bureau of engraving and printing can turn out a sufficient supply.

"SHY, BUT SWEET!" OH, OH, CHARLIE! New York, June 10.—(P)—Shy, but sweet was the combined estimate of Charles A. Lindbergh in London.

"He is the sweetest thing," said Miss Elizabeth Robinson, daughter of Theodore Douglas Robinson, assistant secretary of the navy. Miss Robinson saw the Flying Colonel at the American embassy.

"He is very shy and reticent," declared Miss Pauline Polk Day, Miss Robinson and Day returned from England today on the Mauretania.

Col. Lindbergh Agrees To Plans of New York

BY SAM LOVE. New York, June 10.—(United News)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will do exactly as New York wants him to when he is given the metropolitan record-breaking reception reception Monday.

He will trust his beloved "Spirit of St. Louis" to other hands and fly to New York in an amphibian plane. He will land on schedule time in the bay, thus releasing 3,000 policemen to handle the crowds on the line of march, instead of on Staten island where he would have landed in his own plane.

The flier's capitulation came gracefully as soon as the situation had been explained to him by R. R. Blythe, his friend and representative of the St. Louis backers, who was admitted aboard the Memphis as a sort of special envoy.

Blythe notified the mayor's welcoming committee, placed on tenterhooks by Lindbergh's desire to fly his Atlantic plane to a New York field.

"Captain Lindbergh will arrive by amphibian as planned at 10 a. m., Monday," the telegram read. "City program accepted."

The "Spirit of St. Louis" probably will be flown here from Washington by an army aviator.

Lindbergh Celebration 50 STATIONS TO REPORT EVENT Broadcasting Begins 10:30

Washington, June 10.—(United News)—All radio fans can tune in at 11:30 a. m. eastern standard time Saturday for the Lindbergh celebration, the National Broadcasting company announces.

It will use its largest hook-up of 50 stations reaching probably 35,000,000 listeners. Additional short-wave broadcasting from WGY, Schenectady, and KDKA, Pittsburgh, will permit radio listeners in England, France, South America and even South Africa, to listen in.

Another Godsend to waiting throngs has been arranged by the National Broadcasting company. All of its broadcasted description also will be amplified to the crowds at Washington.

Those waiting for the ceremony at Washington monument will hear the description of the landing at the navy yard and of the parade up Pennsylvania avenue.

The Arrangement. The National Broadcasting company described its arrangements as follows:

"Phillips Carlin will begin the descriptive work, located at the very top of the Washington monument, 550 feet in the air with the help of powerful binoculars. He will describe the approach of the U. S. S. Memphis up the Potomac river. As soon as the cruiser nears the dock, Graham McNamee, second junior view commander, will broadcast direct from the National Broadcasting company's studios in New York city through 27 stations located as far north as Portland, Maine, as far south as Atlanta, and as far west as Kansas City, Mo."

"Following the broadcasting of the proceedings of the reception by Secretary Kellogg and the Minnesota society, and at 10 o'clock a monster broadcast will be made from the Washington auditorium by the National Press club with 'Roxy,' of radio fame, as master of ceremonies."

"The intervening period between the noonday and evening broadcasts from Washington a continuous program centered around the history-making flight and the hero of the hour will be broadcast direct from the National Broadcasting company's studios in New York city, where George M. Cohan will sing 'When Lindy Comes Home,' his own song about the flier, who has been written since his world-wide success, 'Over There.'"

Immediately after Lindbergh leaves the navy yard, McNamee, under special police escort, will make a dash for the base of the monument. Milton J. Cross, from the dome of the United States capitol, will describe the approach from the navy yard, and John B. Daniel, on the roof of the United States treasury building, will follow Mr. Cross' reports on Pennsylvania avenue.

MORE HONORS PAID FLIER AT BERLIN

Berlin, June 10.—(P)—Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, American trans-Atlantic fliers, tonight were the guests of honor at a real American party, after a well-filled day of honors and ceremonies.

Tonight's dinner-dance given by the American club at the Hotel Adlon proved a magnet for all the Americans in Germany and central Europe who could reach Berlin in time and the affair had all the flavor of a "home town" week.

Foreign Minister Stresemann himself as a special mark of interest in the American celebration insisted on attending right up to the time for the departure of his train for Geneva where he will attend Monday's convocation of the council of the League of Nations.

Long before the hour fixed for the appearance of the American fliers and Ambassador Jacob G. Schurman, the hotel lobbies were thronged with Americans eager to pay tribute to their compatriots. There were many distinguished German guests also.

Despite their busy evening function and a no less imposing reception and luncheon at the Berlin Rathaus, the fliers found time during the day to inspect three of the most important aviation factories in Germany, visiting the Rohrbach and Siemens-Halske plants in the forenoon and the Albatros works in the afternoon.

The latter plant particularly interested Chamberlin as it was there that German war-time planes were constructed.

Despite the fact that the Albatros shops had been closed for the week-end before the fliers arrived, a crowd of workmen and their families were on the spot to give just greetings to the distinguished visitors.

When German aviation engineers remarked to Chamberlin that their commercial planes were allowed to carry an amount only equal to their own weight, he replied, "The Columbia carried twice her weight."

This simple statement regarding the capabilities of the trans-Atlantic plane astounded the Germans who exclaimed: "Why in that case you wouldn't have been allowed to take off from Germany."

"That may well be," Chamberlin said rather dryly, "but you see the Columbia is just a little ahead of its time."

After the visit to the plants Chamberlin told newspapermen that he thought that despite the handicap on German aviation by the peace treaty conditions as to size of planes she is allowed to manufacture, she was making such progress with the smaller models that this might turn "the great disadvantage of the people who thought that the peace treaty was a disadvantage" into a "great advantage."

Plans of Chamberlin and Levine underwent several modifications today. First, they will not fly to Bremen to meet their wives, as they had considered doing, instead the ladies will join their husbands at Prague, the capital of Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine will depart from the liner Berlin to Bremen June 17, where they will be the guests of the Luftansa air lines at a "festival breakfast."

They will fly to Berlin, leaving Bremen at 11 a. m., and arriving at Tempelhof airport at 2 p. m. They will have luncheon in the airfield restaurant and leave in a plane for Prague at 4 p. m., arriving in the evening to join their husbands.

Police Chief Fired. Gadsden, Ala., June 10.—(P)—The city council late yesterday removed Police Chief George A. Fink after he had been found guilty for "indiscretion in his actions with a girl he employed to trap bootleggers."

Captain S. L. O'Donnell, of the police force, was appointed to replace him. Ten aldermen had voted Fink's usefulness had been destroyed by his "indiscretion acts."

Local watermelon prospects for the coming season appear particularly bright.

This will be cheering news for those lovers of this fruit who await the local grown variety to get their initial taste. The south Georgia variety is already on the market, the municipal market having seen it's first melons two weeks ago. But while some will indulge their appetite in these shipped melons, there are a great many who wait for the home grown product.

The local 1927 crop will hardly get to the market until after the 4th of July. This is about the usual time, although some seasons see the crop from this section hit the market around the first of July.

While the watermelon requires plenty of moisture and while the past few weeks have been rather dry, prospects around Atlanta seem exceptionally good. One watermelon raiser of Douglas county, who has between six and seven acres planted, reports that prospects were never better for a good crop than at the present time.

Planting. The watermelon is usually planted in this section around May first, although there have been cases when the seeds were put in the ground as early as April first. The latter date, however, is generally too early as the chill of early April is too much for young plants.

The cultivation of watermelons is best conducted on land having a southern exposure. This enables the plants to catch the rays of the early morning sun. Wonderful results have been obtained from land freshly cleared of straw. The plowing in of the straw and low vegetation seems to give the soil the ability to hold just the right amount of moisture. But when considering moisture, one should not get the idea that watermelons thrive on wet or marshy land. On the other hand this fruit does best on higher ground and land well removed from swamp conditions.

Varieties. By far the most popular variety grown in this section is the round melon, known as the Wilkins, the Lipsy and the Stone Mountain. The latter name was probably given because of its shape. This melon is very juicy, is free from hollows, very firm and has a delicious flavor.

The XL variety is grown to some extent around Atlanta. This melon has a thick rind and is especially well adapted to shipping.

The Sugar Loaf is another variety that is raised to some extent in this section. It is grown in greater proportion, however, in south Georgia.

JORDAN SENTENCED TO TERM ON GANG

Richard W. Jordan, itinerant preacher, part-time rice broker, and self-admitted drunkard and narcotic

Hughes to steal $2,922 from two prominent Atlanta physicians, emigrants of the woman. The jury deliberated less than one hour.

Guilt of the charge carries with it the two-to-five-year sentence. Attorneys representing Jordan announced following the verdict that an appeal would be taken.

Following the return of the verdict Miss Hughes was ushered into the courtroom and a 12 months' suspended sentence pronounced upon her by Judge Howard. Assistant Solicitor

Hudson agreed to the suspended sentence on condition that the defendant make restitution in the sum of $2,922.77 to Drs. Bunce and Landham, her employers.

Attorney Ben P. Gaillard, of Gainesville, who represented Miss Hughes and assisted in the prosecution of Jordan, immediately handled Mr. Hudson a check for the entire amount, which was paid by Miss Hughes' brother.

Strange Influence. The case went to the jury at 12:40 o'clock Friday, following lengthy summaries by the state and defense attorneys. Assistant Solicitor John Hudson portrayed a scheming, preying Jordan who utilized a strange influence over the woman to obtain various sums of money aggregating $2,922, under the guise of receiving "God's money" with which to carry on Christian-like work.

Defense attorneys charged that an unbalanced mind was responsible for irregularities and that Jordan had been unsound mentally since childhood. Witnesses whose testimony tended to lay the foundation for such a plea had previously appeared for the defendant.

Following the return of the verdict, it was announced that Miss Hughes, who had previously pleaded guilty to larceny after trust and who appeared as a state witness in the Jordan trial, would receive a suspended sentence.

History of Case. Jordan was arrested March 17 on charges of receiving stolen goods from Miss Hughes, who had been taken into custody the preceding day on complaint of Dr. J. W. Landham, one of her employers.

Dr. Landham, with offices at 139 Forrest avenue, declared that Miss Hughes had admitted taking the $2,000, but claimed she did so only because she was "influenced" by Jordan, whom, she said, "she believed to be a man of God" and worthy of trust.

In 1918 Miss Hughes came to Atlanta from Gainesville and some time later was employed by Dr. Landham. She roomed at the Y. W. C. A. and took up the study of art during her spare moments. One of her paintings was recently exhibited at the Woman's club.

Miss Hughes said she met Jordan daily while on her way to the bank, and gave him sums ranging from $1 to $50.

The girl also claimed that Jordan had been entrusted with insurance, bonds, and other valuable papers belonging to her parents.

Beautiful in every detail was the marriage of Miss Martha Ruth Satterwhite and Cecil Robert Mason, of Haverhill, which was solemnized Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Martha Brown Memorial Methodist church. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. George L. King. Artistic decorations of cathedral candelabra, palms, amaranth and high basket vases filled with white roses transformed the altar into an exquisite background for the bride and groom.

RID OF ILLS DUE TO CONSTIPATION

Texas Lady Says She Felt Fine After Taking Black-Draught to Correct Imperfect Elimination.

Winfield, Texas.—"For eight or nine years, I have used Black-Draught in my home, and it has come to be our family stand-by for constipation," says Mrs. C. L. Hays, of this town.

"Several years ago," explains Mrs. Hays, "I was suffering from a bad pain across my back. I became sallow and my complexion was dull. I felt sluggish and listless."

"I realized that I was becoming poisoned from improper elimination. I was constipated, and this was causing a condition which was making me ill."

"I lost my appetite and did not relish anything to eat."

"I had always found Black-Draught to be a useful purgative, so I thought I would take a course of this medicine to thoroughly cleanse my system."

"I took a small dose every night for several weeks and found that it was just what I needed. I soon began to feel better. The sluggish, dull feeling left, and I felt like a new woman."

"I know Black-Draught can be relied upon to give good results. I give it to my little boy, as it is about the only medicine I can get him to take without an argument. His health is good, and about all he needs is something to keep his bowels open when he has a bad cold or an upset stomach."

Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

INSTALLMENT LIV.

ALAN, old Sophy, with a sigh of despair, that it was impossible to run away now.

"Don't you see?" he said. "We're regularly trapped. We've got to find out what's happened, and particularly about Tancred. You imagine he's dead, but that's scarcely likely, unless there are such things as ghosts, which I'm afraid I don't believe in. Will you stay here while I go into the kitchen and try to stir up those wretched servants, or would you rather come with me?"

"I'd rather be with you," Sophy faltered. "If you leave me alone here he might come again. O, I do wish we could go away now."

She got up clinging to Alan's arm. So still it was a silence that leaped its dead weight on the Villa Mona like a breathless doom.

"I switched on all the lights while I was waiting for Piers," Sophy said in a shaking whisper. "I got so nervous. I switched on every light I could find. It seems so strange—so terribly quiet. I think there'll be a storm. . . . O, Alan!"

Suddenly the door bell pealed and shattered that dead silence. They looked at each other, and then Alan said "I'll go."

But as he went towards the door Sophy, apt close behind him, could not prevent a shiver of madonna lilies without remembering this night and its strange happenings. White lilies in pots ranged all the way up the marble stairs against the lovely bronze balustrade, sending forth their perfume into the brilliantly lighted stillness.

Alan also remembered afterwards how curious he was in those few seconds with his hand on the knob, to know what would happen when he opened the door. Perhaps it would be the "dead man" of Sophy's imagining, Piers, who might have mislaid his key.

And then, antithesis! He couldn't help himself.

For there in the shallow portico, clad for the evening, leaning negligently on his pet walking stick and ready to discard a cigarette from its amber holder, stood Willie Moppet.

"Well, upon my soul, what are you doing here, and what's the joke, anyway?" Mr. Moppet demanded peevishly. He glanced at his cigarette and decided not to throw it away after all.

"Where's Tancred?" Alan asked.

"Come in," said Alan, controlling his unseemly mirth. "You've just arrived at the right moment. We needed you, Moppet. We're in the very devil of a mess here."

"We?" repeated Willie, his voice quavering with surprise. "And pray, who are we?"

"Mrs. Tancred and myself," Alan replied.

Sophy emerged from the background and clutched at Willie as though he represented something in the nature of a lifeline.

"O, Mr. Moppet, I think Piers is dead and Alan says the servants are all drugged!" she cried. "I saw Piers for a moment, but he couldn't speak to me. . . . He was dead!"

"Si," Willie exclaimed awesomely. He stared at them. "Are you two mad? What on earth are you talking about? Servants drugged—Tancred dead?—cousins?"

"The servants have been drugged, anyway," Alan affirmed, "and we don't know where Tancred is."

"Good gracious!" squeaked Willie. "Have you searched the place Ring for a doctor? What have you done?"

"Nothing," faltered Sophy. "You see—"

"Only happened a few minutes ago," Alan broke in to explain. "I've just about got here myself."

"I'll say he was, and plentifully," Alan replied.

"Come along," said Alan. "I'll show you the servants. Lucia's in the pergola, or was—the others are in the service room."

"Strossen?" queried Willie. "He's not been drugged, has he?"

"No," Willie replied. "The two men went quickly to the rear of the house, Sophy tagging along behind, unable to bear being left alone, and there they found the servants exactly as Alan had left them, with Strossen still snoring his head off, and the others in the various attitudes which have been described."

Willie went over to the butler and shook him roughly, calling to Alan to ring for the police and a doctor.

"Here, you!" he said, addressing the unconscious Strossen. "The game's up. I know you're shamming. Don't think you can pull off anything like this on me."

Strossen's reply to the forceful handling was to fall heavily from the chair, slithering out of Willie Moppet's grasp to drop into an ungraceful huddle on the floor. His eyes were open, now, but he kept up his stertorous breathing.

"Mr. Moppet," Sophy expostulated. "What can you mean? Just look at the wretched man. He isn't shamming."

Willie looked and became a little doubtful. "Well, if he isn't, it's the cleverest dodge of all. He's drugged himself 'as well as the others."

"But why should he? What for?"

"No mind that just now. We've got to get your husband the first thing. Try to tell me exactly what happened."

"Altogether, here's Lucia!" The cook was dragging herself in, holding a hand to her forehead and looking thoroughly dazed. Willie pounced upon her, but she was only a little more coherent than when Alan had tried to get information from her.

She had been very sick, she said, and felt slightly better now—but only slightly. There must have been something in the food that had made them all ill.

"You saw Piers—told him that Strossen—"

"Yes, it's all right," Willie said soothingly. "Now you better go back to the drawing room, Mrs. Tancred, and wait there quietly while Brooke and I take charge here until the police come. That won't be more than a couple of minutes or so."

"But—"

"Yes, you go—that's a good girl. I like I'd better stick around here on account of him," He indicated the huddled form of the butler. "He's just might happen to come to his senses in a hurry if I went away. Do as I ask you, Mrs. Tancred."

Crackers Get 10 Hits But Fail in Pinches

"Speed" Martin Relieves Fowler But Can Not Hold Chicks—Brown Hurls Memphis to Easy Victory.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 10.—L. Andrew Brown, who early in his youth took up left-handed pitching as a provider, comes from Beeville out in Texas, where they grow up wild. Still clinging to L. Andrew is the reputation of being a wild young left-handed gent. But when Andrew has aim he can go some right smart pitching. Andrew, of Beeville, had aim today and he did some right smart pitching when the Chicks defeated the Crackers, score 6 to 2, and made it two straight in the three-game series that ends tomorrow afternoon.

While Lloyd Andrew Brown had his aim on the Crackers he was pitching the Chicks to within just exactly two games of first place in the pennant pursuit in which the Vols are being closely pursued by the Barons and the Chicks.

Mr. Pete Fowler, another left-hander, who, instead of a reputation for wildness, brought with him here a reputation for winning ball games—he had won eight and lost two—started his first pitching job of the season here but didn't finish it. He had only two and one-third innings on the hill and turned it over to "Speed" Martin, a right-hander, also a local Cracker debatable, who didn't do much better than Fowler. The Chicks had scored once on Fowler in the first and one in the third when he handed the job over to Martin with three runners on. George Farrell greeted Martin with a single, scoring two runners and the Chicks scored two more off Martin in the seventh. Fowler gave up four hits during his regime and Martin five. Both were wild, however, with Fowler walking three and Martin five.

Touched for 10 Hits. Lloyd Andrew Brown "with aim" gave up 10 hits but he lost his aim in but one batter, and kept the hits scattered throughout six innings. The Crackers got to him in the fourth for three of their hits and their only scores.

Lloyd Andrew didn't lose his aim until two were out in the seventh inning when he couldn't find the groove for squaring "Squatter" Cuto. The diminutive Cracker shortstop. All pitchers were flawlessly supported and every run was earned. Two double plays with Frank Kohlbecker.

ent when Gilbert and Welch singled in succession, but one was out and Kohlbecker popped to first and Schwab flied to left.

Chicks are Threatened.

The Crackers kept threatening in the eighth. With one out, Gilbert singled, Welch popped to second, Kohlbecker was nicked on the big toe by Cuto and was unable to run for him. But he didn't have to run as Manager Niehoff, obliging for Schwab, drove the first ball pitched into Barber's head.

The Chicks made it fairly safe with a pair in the seventh. With one down, Schmandt walked and went to second on Standert's single. Farrell forced Standert but McKee doubled down first base line, scoring Schmandt and Farrell. McKee went to third when Engel beat out a grounder to Gilbert but Brown popped to short to end the inning.

Tom Rogers struck out for Martin to start the ninth. Zoeller rounded to Schmandt and Brown covered the bag for the out. Cuto singled to left but Rhil flied to Barber and the Crackers were beaten again.

The Crackers threatened in the seventh.

Ernest Kontz Qualifies for National Track Meet

Tech Star Finishes Second in 440 Dash

Ed Hamm and Perkins Will Compete in Broad Jump This Afternoon—Hood Fails in Discus Throw.

Chicago, June 10.—(Special.)—E. Ernest Kontz, Georgia Tech sprinter, qualified for the finals of the 440-yard dash here Friday afternoon in the preliminaries of the annual track meet of the National Collegiate Athletic association. The Georgian ran second in his heat, which was won by Butler, negro athlete of Geneva college, Beaver Falls, Pa., whose time was 48 4-5 seconds.

Tomorrow afternoon Ed Hamm and Percy Perkins, also of Georgia Tech, will represent their school in the running broad jump.

In the preliminaries of the 100-yard run-off dash Hamm failed to qualify. His heat was won by Alderman, of Michigan State college, who stepped the century in 9 9-10 seconds. Haynes, Denver university, took second to qualify with Alderman for the finals in that event this afternoon.

"Papa" Hood, single Georgia Tech entry in the discus throw, missed qualification for the finals of this event. Carson, husky Californian, representing the College of the Pacific, heaved the discus 140 feet and 2 1-2 inches to lead the seven qualifiers for the discus finals tomorrow afternoon.

WESTERN ATHLETES LEAD FIELD FRIDAY. Chicago, June 10.—(P)—Western conference athletes led the qualifiers in the national collegiate A. A. track and field trials here today, placing 14 men in the eight events. Other midwest schools having no conference affiliations were second with 12. The Missouri Valley conference placed seven, the south six, the east nine and the far west six. The finals of the games, called the Olympics of the American colleges, will be held tomorrow afternoon, with indication favoring record-breaking performances.

William Butler, a negro sprinter from Geneva college, Beaver Falls, Pa., performed the greatest feat of the afternoon. He won his heat of the 100-yard dash in 9 9-10, equalling the best time of the day and approached within one-tenth of a second of the meet record. Later he won his heat of the 440-yard run in 48 8-10, one-tenth of a second behind the meet record.

Two of the greatest surprises were the defeats of George Heister, of Michigan, "Big Ten" 100-yard champion, and Baird, of Iowa, conference quarter-mile champion. They failed to qualify.

Qualifying preliminaries were run off in a majority of the 15 events to reduce the field for the finals tomorrow.

The track was dry and fast, favoring record-breaking performances.

35 Minutes Cut From Time Made in 1926

Venceslas Spack Sets Record Thursday, It Is Announced.

Paris, June 10.—(United News.)—On three bananas and some powdered chocolate, a 26-year-old swimmer, employee of Prague, swam the English channel Thursday in record-breaking time, according to an announcement from the Czechoslovakian legation.

Venceslas Spack, the successful swimmer, bettered the previous record, established by the Frenchman Michel in 1926, by 35 minutes. Spack's time was 12 hours, 15 minutes, 7 seconds.

The "cat" who won for the year, Czech a prize of 150,000 francs, has been officially confirmed by authorities at Prague.

Second Ocean Swim.

Spack, a mechanic, was swimming in ocean water for the second time in his life. He took a trip swim of two hours earlier in the week, and then set out upon the channel adventure without advertisement.

The Czechoslovakian government was interested in the young man's venture, and Dr. R. A. a counselor to the ministry of public health at Prague, presented the prize.

Spack, accompanied by a fellow countryman named Dvoracek, started his channel swim from Issant, on the French coast between Calais and Cherbourg, at half-past midnight, according to the Czech legation's announcement.

After six hours in the water, Dvoracek abandoned, but Spack kept on and reached the Dover shore at 3 a. m. Thursday.

Time.

The swimmer's time was 12 hours, 15 minutes and seven seconds, the Czech legation announced. Michel, the stout baker, swam the channel last year in the announced time of 12 hours and 50 minutes.

AROUND THE BIG LEAGUE CIRCUITS

BY UNITED NEWS.

Four over-time contests, two in each league, featured the days games in the majors.

The American league race was materially tightened when all teams in the first division, with the exception of the leading Yankees, won their games.

Ted Lyons' clear cut 4-to-2 win for the White Sox, his eleventh of the year, cut the Yanks' lead to three games over the Sox and six over the Athletics.

Reeves Wins Game.

Tris Speaker's double, followed by Bobby Reeves', former Tech star, single in the thirteenth, gave the Senators a 6-to-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The Detroit Tigers took the final game of the series from the Red Sox, 10 to 5, in 12 innings by blasting Lundgren off the mound in the ninth.

Ty Cobb and Lefty Grove were the stars in the fifth consecutive win registered by the Athletics as they defeated the Browns, 4 to 3, for the fourth straight time. Cobb's home run in the third with a runner on base accounted for the winning run.

The Chicago Cubs again proved their ability to outlast the other fellows by pushing a run across in the twelfth for a 5-to-4 decision at the expense of the luckless Dodgers.

Bancroft's fighting Braves regained sixth place in the older circuit by scoring three runs in the tenth for a 10-to-8 win over the champion Cardinals, entering the ninth with the score 5-all.

Each team scored three runs, Frisch's home run accounting for all St. Louis.

Reds Beat Phils.

The Cincinnati Reds hopped all over Jack Scott in two innings and had little difficulty beating the falling Phillies, 9 to 3. Five runs in the sixth and three in the first gave Hendricks' men their fifth victory in their last six starts.

Bouncing three Giant pitchers for 17 hits, the Pirates of Pittsburgh had sweet revenge to a 13-to-4 truce. Carmen H. Hill was effective and allowed the McGrawmen but seven safeties. Paul Waner and Joe Harris were the offensive stars.

Dark Japan Wins.

Manchester, England, June 10.—(P) Dark Japan, 4-year-old colt, owned by the Aga Khan, won the Manchester cup handicap today by five lengths from Sol Joel's Panthera, Mrs. G. H. Drummond's 5-year-old.

Serendella was third in the field of seven, a head behind Panthera.

Reeves Beats Indians, 6-5, With Single

Former Tech Star Sends Winning Run Over With Hit.

Washington, June 10.—Tris Speaker with a double in the thirteenth inning, paved the way for a 6-to-5 Washington victory today over his old teammates, the Cleveland Indians. McNeely, running for Speaker, was advanced to third on Judge's sacrifice, and after Bluege had walked he scored on Reeves' single.

Washington overcame a four-run lead in the sixth, putting five men across the plate. Cleveland tied the count in the eighth. The win gave the Senators three of the four games in the series.

Cooney Hurt; Lie Passed, Says McInnis

Phil's Pilot Declares Veech Knew of Player's Trouble During Trade.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Philadelphia, Pa., June 10.—Declaring Bill Veech, president of the Chicago Cubs, lied to him in regard to Jim Cooney's condition and angry over the failure of Tony Kautsky to report immediately, Phil McInnis, the fiery manager of the Phillies, today wired William F. Baker, president of the Cardinals, asking if the trade which sent Hal Carlson to Joe McCarthy's club can be cancelled.

Baker, who is being put on the pan by local baseball fans as the result of the trade, was not in town today, and just what action he intends to take could not be learned. Jerry Nugent, the club secretary who attends to all the team's business in the absence of Baker, refused to talk on the matter.

Will Be Out Week.
According to reports from Cincinnati, Cooney showed up with twisted ankles in his left ankle, which will keep him out of the game for nearly a week. He said he was injured last week and it is believed Veech was aware of the fact when the transaction was put through.

The absence of Kauffman has aroused all of McInnis' ire. Cooney brought him in his left ankle, which will keep him out of the game for nearly a week. He said he was injured last week and it is believed Veech was aware of the fact when the transaction was put through.

"Veech told us Cooney was in good shape and that he expected to get into the line-up right away," McInnis is quoted as saying in Redland. "I wired Mr. Baker, asking if we could not call the trade off. Carlson not only refused to be taken back, but pitched a winning game Thursday."

Cheops Wins Close Race at Belmont.
New York, June 10.—(AP)—Two horses rated even fought a thrilling race in the Camphire handicap, $1,200 added, the main race at Belmont park today. Cheops, under the veteran Latoro, won by a short head from Kentucky II, Kelsay up. Both were quoted at 5 to 2 and Cheops, who opened at 2 to 1, was literally backed. The winner bore the Rancocas stable's silks.

Upsets were as numerous as close races. Belmont alone had three fairly long-shot winners, the most extreme of which was Red Spider, under Barrene, victor at 20 to 1 in the second race.

Like the Camphire at Belmont at 6 to 2 furlongs, the outstanding event at Latonia, Ky., was a sprint race. The prize was the Hyde Park purse. Piccadilly opened with a rush and bore Jockey Allen over the line three lengths ahead of Orman. Bright Shaw was third.

Allen was one of two jockeys at Latonia to ride double winners, having opened the day with a first-place victory on Dawn of Tomorrow at $12.40 to $2. Jockey Gardner copped the third and sixth on Eric and Staback, Herbert at Home and Bill, and Robertson at Connaught Park, Canada, also piloted a pair of winners in the single day.

Lloyd Hahn Not to Run '27 A. A. U.
Lincoln, Neb., June 10.—(AP)—Lloyd Hahn, of Falls City, Neb., National A. A. U. mile champion, will not be able to defend his title in the annual competition to be held here July 1, 2 and 4.

A special request through a personal interview with the conqueror of Edwin Wide, Swedish schoolmaster, failed when Hahn explained that it would be impossible for him to get in time for the mile in the annual competition to be held here July 1, 2 and 4.

Hahn did the mile in 4:16 to win the event at the meet in Philadelphia last summer.

Pilot of Selma Ball Club Quits
Selma, Ala., June 10.—(AP)—Fred Graff, manager of the local baseball club of the Southeastern league, resigned today at a meeting of the board of directors. It was said that the port of the team so far this season was responsible for his action.

He was employed at the beginning of the season when Selma first entered the league and his successor has been appointed yet. "Dutch" Hoffmann, second baseman, has been made acting team captain pending choice of a new manager.

According to reports from Cincinnati, Cooney showed up with twisted ankles in his left ankle, which will keep him out of the game for nearly a week. He said he was injured last week and it is believed Veech was aware of the fact when the transaction was put through.

The absence of Kauffman has aroused all of McInnis' ire. Cooney brought him in his left ankle, which will keep him out of the game for nearly a week. He said he was injured last week and it is believed Veech was aware of the fact when the transaction was put through.

"Veech told us Cooney was in good shape and that he expected to get into the line-up right away," McInnis is quoted as saying in Redland. "I wired Mr. Baker, asking if we could not call the trade off. Carlson not only refused to be taken back, but pitched a winning game Thursday."

Cheops Wins Close Race at Belmont.
New York, June 10.—(AP)—Two horses rated even fought a thrilling race in the Camphire handicap, $1,200 added, the main race at Belmont park today. Cheops, under the veteran Latoro, won by a short head from Kentucky II, Kelsay up. Both were quoted at 5 to 2 and Cheops, who opened at 2 to 1, was literally backed. The winner bore the Rancocas stable's silks.

Upsets were as numerous as close races. Belmont alone had three fairly long-shot winners, the most extreme of which was Red Spider, under Barrene, victor at 20 to 1 in the second race.

Like the Camphire at Belmont at 6 to 2 furlongs, the outstanding event at Latonia, Ky., was a sprint race. The prize was the Hyde Park purse. Piccadilly opened with a rush and bore Jockey Allen over the line three lengths ahead of Orman. Bright Shaw was third.

Allen was one of two jockeys at Latonia to ride double winners, having opened the day with a first-place victory on Dawn of Tomorrow at $12.40 to $2. Jockey Gardner copped the third and sixth on Eric and Staback, Herbert at Home and Bill, and Robertson at Connaught Park, Canada, also piloted a pair of winners in the single day.

Lloyd Hahn Not to Run '27 A. A. U.
Lincoln, Neb., June 10.—(AP)—Lloyd Hahn, of Falls City, Neb., National A. A. U. mile champion, will not be able to defend his title in the annual competition to be held here July 1, 2 and 4.

A special request through a personal interview with the conqueror of Edwin Wide, Swedish schoolmaster, failed when Hahn explained that it would be impossible for him to get in time for the mile in the annual competition to be held here July 1, 2 and 4.

Hahn did the mile in 4:16 to win the event at the meet in Philadelphia last summer.

Pilot of Selma Ball Club Quits

He was employed at the beginning of the season when Selma first entered the league and his successor has been appointed yet. "Dutch" Hoffmann, second baseman, has been made acting team captain pending choice of a new manager.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 10.—Declaring Bill Veech, president of the Chicago Cubs, lied to him in regard to Jim Cooney's condition and angry over the failure of Tony Kautsky to report immediately, Phil McInnis, the fiery manager of the Phillies, today wired William F. Baker, president of the Cardinals, asking if the trade which sent Hal Carlson to Joe McCarthy's club can be cancelled.

Baker, who is being put on the pan by local baseball fans as the result of the trade, was not in town today, and just what action he intends to take could not be learned. Jerry Nugent, the club secretary who attends to all the team's business in the absence of Baker, refused to talk on the matter.

Blondes, Brunettes To Vie Tonight in Howard Finals

BY ELMO HAMBY.
Nail down the loose boards on the stage and dust off the laurel wreath. For tonight is the night.
Two blondes, Misses Leona Jackson and Leona Levens, will fight it out with three brunettes, Misses Agatha Bryan, Rosina Astin and Vida O'Neill, tonight on the Howard stage in a contest which offers to the girls what is perhaps the greatest opportunity of their lives.

The winner of The Constitution Public opportunity contest, the figure of which will be held tonight, will, whether she be blonde or brunette, affix her signature to the 19 weeks' contract which is now peacefully resting on Publicity Manager Gus Grist's desk. The contract calls for the 19 weeks' engagement on the Public circuit at a salary of $75 per week.

Miss Beulah Levens, blonde and pretty, of 1124 Stewart avenue, topped her way into victory in the Friday night elimination trials. Miss Levens danced first to "Sidelwinks of New York" and scored tremendously. She followed this with another tap number which was as popular as the first.

Miss Laura May Sellers, diminutive and with lots of personality, opened up the evening with a black bottom which, combined with her distinctive method of "putting it over," won a great hand for her.

Miss Vivian Sellers, under any other classification that "hot." The "St. Louis Blues" was the music and—oh, you missed a lot, if you were absent.

Miss Estelle Fling followed with two piano selections, which were well delivered. Miss Jane Harrington, introduced as "Dancing Queen," in blackface, rick with a guitar and song, after which she whistled a selection. Miss Louise Kenney was next in an original dance.

Miss Betty Jackson, one of the most personable young ladies of the entire contest, did a black bottom and followed, after changing her costume to a "shred" of what, with a hula-hula which was good enough for any man's show, he is professional or amateur—you know how this thing is! Miss Jackson is a hard worker and you may see her on the professional stage before long.

Miss Frances Buren followed and danced to "Muddy Water," which was another good reason why you should have been present at the Howard Friday night.

The contest tonight will not be decided by the applause of the audience as has been the custom in the elimination trials, but the winner will be selected by a committee of judges composed of citizens who have no connection with the Howard theater nor The Constitution. The judges are Julian Boehm, Miss Essie Kempton and Fitzhugh Knox, Jr.

For "consolation" awards three other prizes will be given in addition to the first prize of the engagement.

The play has enjoyed unusual popularity this week, judging from the crowded houses that greeted each performance.

"Vickie," a new comedy, will be played next week, and will close the close of the season of the company. The new play is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest, and is expected to bring to a fitting close the very successful season that the company has had here.

Lois Wilson and Warner Baxter are starred in "The Whirlwind of Youth," a feature picture for showing at the Rialto next week. There will be a Tryon comedy called "Flaming Flappers."

ADVERTISING IN THE CONSTITUTION PAYS THE ADVERTISER AND SAVES THE BUYER

PROVE SINCERITY, SUIT FILED TO AVOID M'ADOO'S URGED INSURANCE PAYMENT

Washington, June 10.—William Gibbs M'Adoo, if sincere in his declaration for preservation of the constitution, will take a firm stand for a constitutional congressional reapportionment, declares William H. Stanton, national chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Stanton asserts that M'Adoo, as a presidential nominee, "shares with the Anti-Saloon league a forgetfulness of the constitution, and that the state also is denied its fair representation in presidential nominating conventions, and in the electoral college."

The petition alleged Hicks obtained the policies by fraudulently concealing from the company that he was "usually and habitually engaged in questionable, irregular and illegal business transactions," and that he was "engaged in misappropriating to his own use the funds of the company."

Hicks, the suit continues, "was deliberately procuring insurance upon his life from various companies in large sum, the aggregate of the premiums paid from far beyond his ability to meet from any legitimate source of income."

As an explanation of Hicks' death, the suit says "he came to a violent end either at his own hands, or at the hands of another at his instance, or at the hands of another because of illegal business practices in which he had been engaged."

NEGRO ESCAPES AFTER STEALING $50 FROM PURSE

Police and detectives early Saturday morning were searching for a negro marauder who invaded the home of Mrs. C. B. Tanner, 942 Ponce de Leon avenue, badly frightened its occupants and fled through a bolted screen door with $50 in cash.

Mrs. Tanner, with two women friends, had been on an automobile ride. On returning home about 10 o'clock they left their pocketbooks in a front room. Hearing a noise, Mrs. Tanner ran to the front of the house and surprised the negro as he ransacked the pocketbooks. Snatching for such loot as he could get his hands on quickly he fled through the screen door.

Call Officers Eugene Head and Barney Covington were assigned to the chase, but a thorough search of the neighborhood revealed no trace of the burglar.
